DESIGNER HOME

Secluded by its own natural wonderland this home has much to offer the buyer searching for serenity and privacy. The architecturally designed home boasts a curved roofline and a covered timber deck that seems to blend with its surroundings. Extensive use of timber and glass on the interior of the home sees polished timber floors join to glass walls then onto a ceiling that follows the external profile of the roof, hence giving the home a feeling of expanse and openness. Positioned on a 5877 sqm allotment with a seasonal creek at the rear, a walkway winds its way from the main house to the self contained studio style guest house, perfect for that visit from family and friends. The lush rainforest and well kept gardens keep the house cool, while the fireplace adds to its ambience during winter.
